

EBC-007

Could you, in simple english, explain to me why a rural vote in a remote area of Alberta can be worth twice (in some case three times) as much as MY VOTE in a city which is expected to grow by as much as 50% between electoral commissions?

So, in effect, my vote could be worth 1/6 that of my fellow citizen in a few years time!!

I have lived under two totalitarian regimes for twenty five of my 74 years of life, but please, do not call this a democracy. And, please don't waste any more tax dollars on a sham commission.

Dieter Lemke MD (ret.)