Dear Commission Members:

I am writing with enthusiastic support for the submission to rename the provincial constituency of Dunvegan -- Central Peace to Notley -- Central Peace.

As has been suggested, there are certainly precedents in Alberta for commemorating past political leaders through the names of constituencies. This should be a rare event only in the case of quite special people. I submit that the name Grant Notley still resonates around the province and certainly in that Peace River region he represented so well. He was a man of courage, honour and integrity. Close to 30 years after his tragic death, his name transcends partisan politics.

I hope you will give this request your full consideration.

Yours truly,

Andy Marshall
